"Muuuummm! I've finished my banana but don't know where to put the skin." Does this sound familiar? Well we've found the solution.

The Carbin is a clever, yet simple product designed to keep your car clean. It hangs neatly from the gearstick and it's double waterproof lining means that disposing of banana skins, apple cores and even half full coffee cups is no longer a problem.

We came up with this idea after hearing that 22% of the litter found on our roads is as a result of people littering from their cars. So join us today in our battle to eliminate this ugly statistic.
